Professional Learning Series

In partnership with Education Scotland, we are pleased to offer 'This is Digital Learning' professional learning series. This course will support educators to make effective use of digital technology to deliver high quality teaching, engaging learning and effective assessment. Designed to enhance educators' knowledge and skills, this course aims to develop practitioner knowledge and skills when considering their pedagogical practice with digital technology.

Covering four twilight sessions, each of these online sessions aims to:

- support digital pedagogy
- identify how practitioners can incorporate features of the GTCS Standards, European Digital Framework and National Digital Strategy into their practice
- build a deeper understanding of the digital technologies curriculum through participation in this digital CLPL and its associated network.

Participants who register will be signing up for all four sessions which will be held via Teams. Further detail can be found via the registration form or contacting your school/LA based digital leader.
